Next stop Mexico City!

The grade three students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School are sending Monarch butterflies to Mexico.

The students have created colourful replicas of the insects to send them, by mail, to a children's museum in the Mexican capital. On the reverse of each butterfly the student has identified himself and indicated where it started the journey south. The route these paper butterflies take is similar to the migration of the Monarch butterfly.

Upon arrival, the butterflies will be put on display along with those from hundreds of classes throughout North America. And, like the real butterfly, the art work will make the return trip north in the spring. However, the students will not be receiving their own butterflies but rather ones created by students elsewhere in North America.

In preparing to send the butterflies south, the youngsters have learned about the lengthy route these fragile insects must take to reach their wintering area. They have also learned about the perils they face, during the long trip, habitat loss in Mexico, as well as the impact of human activity on the welfare of the insects.

Students in Sharon Harrison's class and two representatives from Helen Newton's grade three hold their Monarch butterflies aloft prior to sending them on the long flight to Museo del Nino, a children's museum in Mexico City.

This international project was discovered on the Internet by teacher Helen Newton. She said it is a great way for students to learn about the butterfly, migration, the environment, geography, as well as to establish a contact with a student in another part of North America who is sharing the same learning experience.

All grade three classes at the school, Helen Newton's Sharon Harrison's and Sybil Roodenburg's are participating in the project. The butterflies began their long journey south on Friday when three carefully packed envelopes were taken to the post office and sent on their way. Now the students are eagerly anticipating the arrival of spring and the return of the Monarch butterflies, the real ones and the paper ones, to central Ontario.

Lack of consultation about dump proposal

Irondale area residents upset

by Andrew Milne

Tempers are rising in Snowdon Township over a plan to accept 6,000 tonnes of waste, from a Whitby area auto wrecker, at a local landfill site.

A petition is being circulated demanding the government reconsider. Two weeks ago it was learned that the Snowdon Township Council was in the process of negotiating a contract with a Whitby firm to allow the company to dispose of shredded auto waste at its Irondale landfill. In return for dumping privileges, the municipality would receive $65,000.

The township does not yet have final approval from the Ministry of Environment and Energy (MOEE) to accept the waste.

An earlier period of public notice, during which the MOEE was willing to accept comments from the public on the matter, passed, apparently, without any of the residents being aware anything was happening.

Dianne Thompson, who lives just down the hill from the site, said "I think the thing that really annoys people is that they didn't tell us. It seems it was all done in a very surreptitious way, and no one knew what was going on."

Her husband, Ivor Thompson, agrees. "We only found out — they only let anyone know that weekend... It was a surprise, especially considering that people are lead to understand you're not supposed to be able to do anything like this without notifying the public... It seems to me a little like General Boyle. They were obeying the letter of the law. The spirit didn't matter."

Says Bill Powell, who owns property across the road from the site, "It looks to me like they only did the bare minimum — exactly what they had to do, and no more. So they put it on a computer network. How are you going to know, unless you go looking for it? And why would you go looking for it?"

The Times did find the document — which the Ministry of the Environment and Energy is required under the Environmental Bill of Rights to post — on a Government of Ontario electronic bulletin board (BBS) this week. The deadline for public comment marked on the document, was early September (see story on page 3).

Snowdon clerk-treasurer Ernie Hill said this week that the township does not yet have approval from the MOEE to accept the waste at the landfill. Earlier statements he had made, he said, referred to the fact that the MOEE has agreed to hear the township's petition on the matter.

Hill reiterated that the waste is classified as non-hazardous.

Says Hill, "People have been trying to make something out of the fact that the waste has to be transferred in specialized vehicles. That's just because it is technically garbage. All waste haulers have to have specialized haulers."

The waste consists of glass and ground up foam from automobile upholstery, mixed with quantities of soil to weigh it down.

Hill says that, apart from the MOEE's notice on the BBS, no public notice is required for the action under law.

None of the neighbouring landowners, as far as The Times can determine, saw that notice. The first, they say, any of them had heard of the issue was less than a week prior to the deadline for public comment, when a letter was received by a landowner di-

New policies puzzle trustees

by Andrew Milne

School trustees met news that the province is considering eliminating all boards of education in the province with qualified concern.

Board chair Wendy Ladurantaye says she has heard from MPP Chris Hodgson's office, and that she has been told the report on which the story was based hasn't been considered by the cabinet yet, and that there are other options on the table.

The report is expected to go to cabinet next month, after which it would be considered by the government caucus.

Said Ladurantaye last week, "Everyone is just sitting back, waiting to see what's going to happen. We can't respond yet. It's not formal. We don't want to be running around saying the sky is falling. We don't know what's going on. But it's very difficult to make day to day decisions in this atmosphere of turmoil, where we don't know and can't really tell the ramifications of our decisions."

"It's really difficult not to get caught up in an attitude of 'What's the point' — that really fatalist kind of attitude. And we still have to be really careful with the decisions we're making."

Dysart trustee Len Salvatori, who has been on the board for 34 years, said the day the story broke (October 11), he found the fact the government is considering this move not very surprising.

Said Salvatori, "First of all, they wanted to reduce the number of boards and the number of trustees, which I agreed with to some degree — it's not such a radical move. Putting more emphasis on parents' councils in the schools is not such a bad idea either, I thought... So I expected a reduction of trustees, larger Reeve Jock Mavor presents Stanhope resident Carol Moffatt with the Ontario Heritage Special Achievement Award. The award recognizes her efforts in creating a heritage museum for the municipality. Last year the old council chamber building was moved to the municipal complex on North Shore Road. The structure, currently undergoing renovations, will serve as the township's museum. In accepting the award, Moffatt gave credit to the many individuals on the heritage committee who have assisted her with the project.

Clarification

In last weeks' report on the health board's decision to maintain 24 hour service in the Minden emergency ward, The Times reported that the board was $150,000 ahead of projected budget figures. This was in error. The correct figure was $105,000. The Times regrets the error. Though it was not reported either way, it should probably also be made clear that the board is not in a budget surplus situation — merely $105,000 less in debt than was projected for this time of the year. In absolute terms, the organization is still running a small deficit.

rectly adjacent to the landfill. The letter announces not that the township was seeking public comments, but that the township intended "to enter into an agreement" to accept the waste.

A later paragraph stated that the initiative, "has been in full compliance with all Ministry of Environment and Energy regulations and requirements, including a one-time approval for a temporary amendment to the Certificate of Approval on the landfill site to accept waste from outside the municipality."

The letter did not mention that approval has not yet been received. It did give a deadline for comment of Monday, October 7 — which was the council's next scheduled meeting.

Lee Jasper, the landowner who received the letter, said, "I made an unscheduled visit to Irondale that weekend, much to my chagrin, because I'm loaded down with other responsibilities at this time of year... I continue to be shocked by the lack of awareness on the part of my neighbours. Nobody else I talked to knew."

"As someone who has been around for a while, I'm always concerned about experts saying material is safe... And I'm terribly befuddled as to the rationale for the township doing this. They apparently shopped around. It didn't come to them. They actively shopped around — the reason being to cure the deficit situation caused by contamination of the other property up in Lochlin."

"As I explained to the reeve, I would not have purchased the property north of the landfill site three years ago, had I known. I was virtually told not to worry about the landfill. It's only licensed to receive local stuff, I was told... I'm very concerned that they didn't go to the people, hold public meetings, ask them for input, ask them for direction... The first that anybody knew in that area was my good neighbour Bill Powell, when I called him Thursday morning."

Jasper said in the interview, a week ago, that the council had agreed to hold a public meeting. Council has however now called off that meeting, announcing that it would be prepared to meet later.

Hill said he did not know how long the MOEE would take to approve the application.

The Times has not yet spoken to the MOEE officer handling the matter, though he has been contacted.

Hill and Snowdon Reeve George Simmons have protested they need the money from the deal — $65,000 — to pay down the municipality's debts — some of which were incurred during a land purchase two years ago, ironically also involving a landfill site. Land neighbouring the site had been contaminated with leachate from the waste. The township opted to purchase it rather than clean it up, because it was cheaper.

Jasper said that's entirely beside the point. He said the public should have been consulted, and that should be the issue.

"There's so much mixing of issues here," he said, "and I'm sick of it. They need money. Okay. What does that have to do with following a process, notifying the public? They say they don't have to under law. Well, what about accountability? I don't want to be the troublemaker here. But I really think someone has to say something... What's it going to do if people in the city hear about this? What's going to happen to this area's image as clean, pristine, lake country?"

The Thompson's said what they find most upsetting is that no-one knows. "They ask us 'Why didn't you come to the meeting?'" she says. "No one knew there was a meeting until days before. It's a Tuesday, and that cuts the cottagers out. They probably don't even know. That's why we put up the sign. It's a way to let people know."

Powell says he finds it "very surprising" that the township would even consider disposing of the waste at the site.

"There's a stream that runs along the back of it," he says. "When it rains hard enough, it overflows, and runs down the back here into the river... As I remember, when the site was opened, it was in violation of a couple of regulations — too close to the road, I don't remember what else. But they let them do it. It's hard to believe they'd also let them do this."

Ivor Thompson, with a sign he and his wife Dianne erected next to the road to the Irondale dump. "We feel people should know what's happening," he says.

Notice regarding Snowdon request posted on electronic bulletin board

The following is the text of the online public notice posted by the Ministry of Environment and Energy, with respect to the application made by Snowdon Township to permit it to accept shredded automotive waste at the Irondale landfill site.

The document was downloaded via a telnet link to bbs.gov.on.ca. The original was posted to the BBS in August. The document was found six submenus down in the system. Under the Environmental Bill of Rights Legislation, enacted in 1994, all government ministries must submit notice of certain actions to this system.

The document is not easy to find especially for a novice user familiar only with graphical web services. A link to the telnet service (a text only service, which cannot be viewed via most common web browsers) is provided from the government of Ontario's web service, at <http://www.gov.on.ca/>. To find it, from the web, users would have to select 'Ministries and Agencies' in their browser then go to the bottom of the page, under 'The Environmental Registry'. To get to the service from that point, they would have to have a telnet client installed on their system, and have configured the browser so it could call up the client. Failing this, they could take a note of the address, and launch the telnet client separately, and enter the address (bbs.gov.on.ca) di-

Crisis management

While the provincial government was elected on a platform of cost reduction and reform of the way services are delivered, few envisioned the turmoil these objectives would create throughout the province. Nowhere is that more obvious than in the education system. Early in his mandate as Education Minister, it was revealed that John Snobelen planned to create a "crisis" in the system to force the reform process. The same minister was decrying the state of the Ontario education system, while his Premier was telling foreign audiences that it was the most progressive in North America.

Well, the crisis Snobelen asked for is here. Education support payments have been slashed, with more yet to come, the current system of managing local education policies and spending is in disarray, and despite promises that the moves will not affect the classroom there are few teachers and students who have not felt the impacts of the cutbacks.

The wholesale change in the way school boards are run, as reported in a Toronto Star article earlier this month, is of particular concern. The report suggested the government is planning to eliminate the local boards altogether, turning administration responsibilities over to gigantic regional councils on the one hand, and individual school issues to as yet ill-defined volunteer school councils on the other. While the government has yet to say this will in fact be the route it will follow, it has allowed the newspaper report to go unchallenged, perhaps using it as a trial balloon.

If the report is in fact a blueprint for where the government is taking the system, we believe it needs a great deal more study before being implemented. We agree with Haliburton County Board Chair Wendy Ladurantaye in her assertion that the elimination of the locally elected board puts a greater distance between the parents and the education of their children. As well, it creates even more confusion at the local board level as trustees wrestle with budget cuts while wondering why they should even bother if their positions are soon to be eliminated.

Unfortunately, lost in all this turmoil are the reasons for the education system in the first place: the students.

Education changes coming too quickly

Editor:

A crisis in education? Yes, there is-- and it's been created by the current government.

The Minister of Education, John Snobelen, intimated in the fall of 1995 that the government would need to create a crisis in education in order to execute the changes they desire. He countered with "you misunderstand, I don't mean it as it sounds". From my perspective and that of my colleagues, there is no misunderstanding. It has been the intention, borne out by subsequent actions, of the Harris government to reduce spending to education and many other sectors of the public service. There are many people who feel these actions have come too quickly and without the appropriate thought as to their long-term effects on the people of Ontario.

The government is determined to take another billion dollars out of the education system, on top of the $400 billion taken last year. This is a staggering amount of money. Mr. Snobelen has created his crisis in order to convince the public that the education system is broken and needs fixing. He has done this through inequitable comparisons, erroneous statements and innuendos. He has implied time and again that the academic needs of children have not been met and that classrooms have not changed since 1952. Mr. Snobelen has not acknowledged the recent international award won by the Durham Board of Education or the achievements made by Ontario students. If he had, he would be admitting that he was wrong about education in our province.

He has belittled the teachers in Ontario, intimating that they are not properly trained nor do they work hard enough. This is simply not true and we have the facts and real life cases which dispute his statements. Teachers did not choose their profession for the "big bucks and summer holidays" as the cynics would have you believe. The reasons for becoming a teacher are many. Some chose it because someone inspired them and others because they love learning themselves or because they felt they could impact the future of their students and community. We resent Mr. Snobelen's tactics of devaluing the very people who make the system work, to reach his government's goal, which is to reduce the deficit. We hope that our community will not buy into his agenda, but rather ask someone in education what it is they do, so that you have a better perspective of what is happening in our schools today. Then make your decision based on both side of the issue.

We have asked this question of many people and can find no one who has the answer. How can we create a stronger, more competitive, more vibrant education system as Mr. Snobelen says he is doing, while at the same time divesting huge amounts of money and devaluing the educational workers and the work they do? This is simply not possible.

Teachers and educational support staff will be attending the October 26 rally in Metro to send the message that we care about our students, their education, our profession and the future of our communities. Call me at 457-1735 if you wish to lend your voice to our cause.

Something smells

Editor:

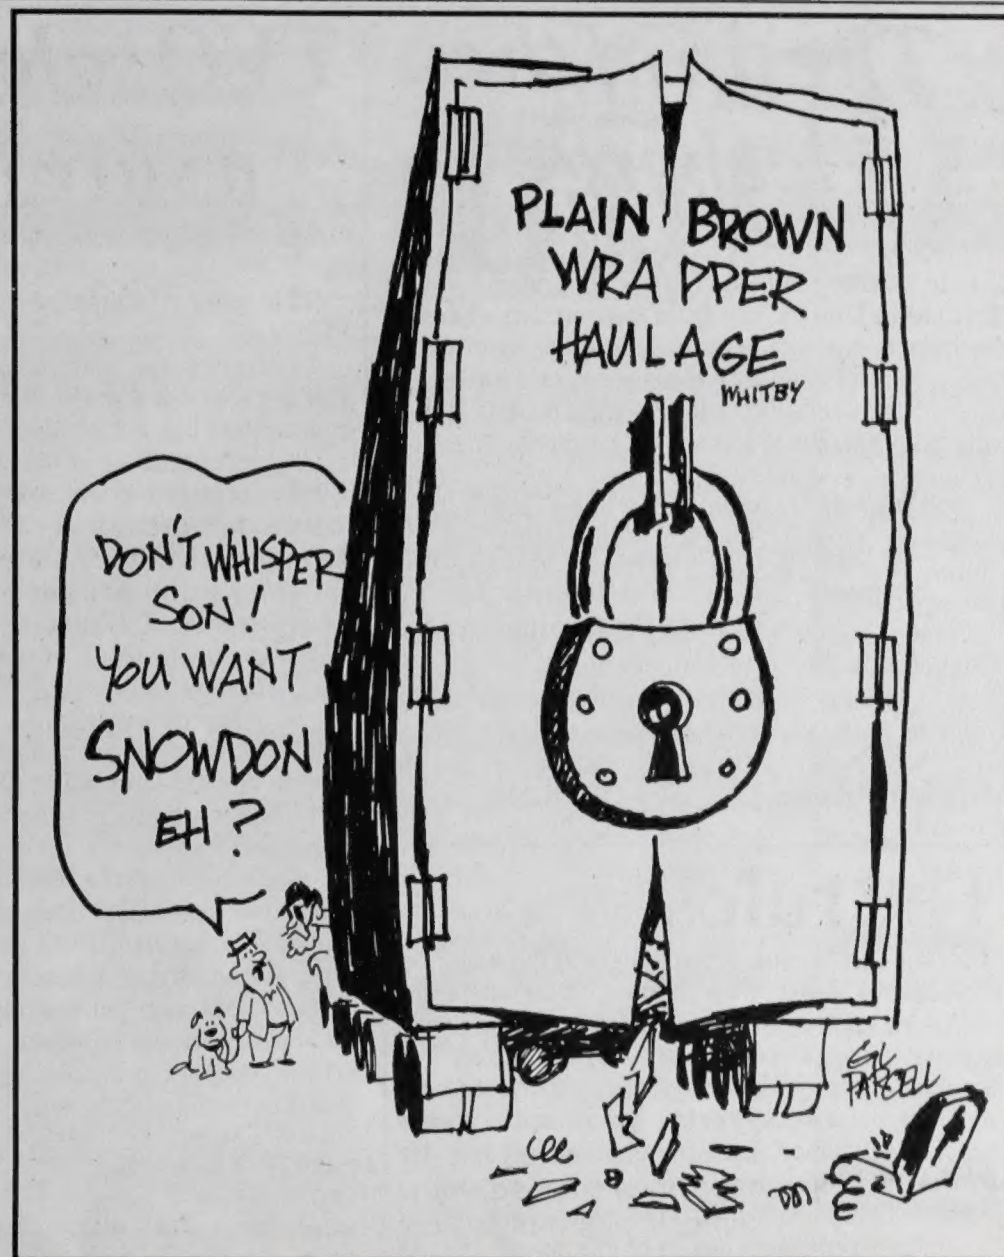

I have come to the sad and worried conclusion that Snowdon Township's affairs are in disarray, for more reasons than are immediately obvious. When a small group of people impose their political will over the welfare and rights of the people they are being paid to look after, it is very dangerous indeed. Our votes and our tax dollars have given them positions of trust and moral responsibility that should be more than a letter circulated to five people, most of whom are not residents. I believe it is time to stand up and be counted lest we become another Poland. Our opinions are about the only rights we have left, and making them known should be a priority.

I am frightened that we now seem at the mercy of people at all levels of government and corporate power who do not care about their people or their employees, but only of their positions and brown-backed dollars.

Reeve Simmons, "theoretically, do you follow me?"; solutions are simply this. "Give a man a hammer and he'll drive a nail". It's time we realize that "theoretically" these nails are often into our coffins. When they try to tell me they followed all "the rules and regulations" and that this mess from Whitby Auto Wreckers is safe, I will not buy that story from Snowdon Township, not from civil serv-

A fork in the long road to China

In Paris, they simply stared when I spoke to them in French; I never did succeed in making those idiots understand their own language.

Mark Twain

Needless to say, Mr. Twain was scribbling with tongue firmly lodged in cheek when he penned those words.

I wish I could say the same for Giovanni Savasta.

Signor Savasta is an Italian importer-exporter entrepreneur who operates out of the city of Genoa--which, by the way if you plan on visiting, you should definitely pack your own dinner cutlery. For the past year, Giovanni has been buying up every knife, fork and spoon he can lay his hands on. He's got them stored in a huge warehouse on the outskirts of Genoa. Right now he's negotiating with Chinese authorities to have his cutlery shipped to a similar warehouse in Beijing.

Giovanni figures that knives, forks and spoons in China will be bigger than the Hula Hoop and Cabbage Patch Dolls put together. He reckons once his cutlery pierces the bamboo curtain, the night skies over China will be lit up from the glow of bonfires as millions of Chinese toss their chopsticks into the flames.

And naturally Giovanni Savasta thinks the whole deal is going to make him stinking rich, warp-speed quick.

As Giovanni less-than-modestly puts it: "It was so obvious, nobody bothered-- nobody but me. I realized that these people ate with chop sticks because they didn't know any better."

All I can say is I hope Giovanni hasn't put a down payment on a villa in Tuscany, because I don't think his brainwave is going to be quite as lucrative as he thinks.

The fact is, we Westerners are pretty much Johnny-come-latelys to the knife and fork idea ourselves. A couple of hundred years ago most Westerners--including royalty--were still dipping their grubby paws into common bowls of food and stuffing it into their mouths. An eighteenth century English etiquette book sniffs, "When everyone is eating from the same dish, you should take care not to put your hand in it before those of higher rank have done so."

Mind you, it was always easy to spot people of noble rank when they gathered around the dinner table. The blue bloods daintily picked out their food using the thumb and the first two fingers of the right hand. We commoners used both fists.

No one knows how long the Chinese have eaten with chop sticks--their use goes back into the mists of antiquity. But the Chinese don't eat that way because they're too dumb to figure out how to invent cutlery. They do it because they consider our practice of carving food at the table to be primitive and barbaric. The Chinese believe that the mechanics of food preparation should be taken care of in the kitchen and that meals ought to arrive at the table in portions ready to be eaten.

Besides there's something naturally elegant about eating with chop sticks. They force the diner to slow down. You can't shovel it in like a furnace stoker the way you can with a fork. You have to take your time and eat in modest amounts.

Who knows--you might even indulge in a little conversation.

How civilized.

I remember arguing about chop sticks with a friend of mine who still insists that chopsticks are cruel and unusual punishment for anyone with a healthy appetite. "And those dinky tea cups that they give you," he says. "Why the hell can't they put handles on them like normal tea cups?"

Well I asked a Chinese friend about that and he smiled and said, "Our cups don't have handles so that we can tell with our hands how hot the tea is. If the tea is too hot for our fingers, we certainly wouldn't want to put it in our mouths."

Er...right.

Reminds me of the story of the two mourners, one Chinese, one Caucasian, visiting the graves of their respective loved ones in a cemetery. The Westerner snorts in derision as he sees the Chinese pour soup into a bowl and leave it on the grave.

"What time do you think your friend will come up to eat dinner?" he asked the Oriental.

"Oh," says the Chinese, "about the same time your friend comes up to smell the flowers."

The tip of the iceberg ants in a mahogany-lined office in Gravenhurst, or Toronto or Ottawa, not from anyone, anywhere. Garbage is garbage is garbage and our own is too much. I understand that Napanee would have taken it for $180,000, but Snowdon took it for only $65,000. What a freaky, despicable, incomprehensible undertaking.

Pollution has not addled my brain, and if the people of Snowdon Township and Haliburton County feel a chill now, it is only the tip of the iceberg.

When Snowdon Township gets in the red again (financially) will it cut a bigger deal?

Wake up and smell the roses folks. You soon won't be able to because of the stench.

TVO sale not yet a sure thing

Editor:

This letter is addressed to all fans of TVOntario.

Contrary to the scary headline in the Toronto Star on Saturday October 12, the provincial government has not yet decided to sell TVOntario.

A careful reading of the article reveals that our provincial public broadcaster is going to be the first candidate for privatization review by cabinet. As a volunteer with TVOntario, I can report that this development is in line with what senior management of TVOntario has been expecting.

However, the result of that review will probably depend to a considerable extent on public reaction. In other words, if you feel strongly that TVOntario should not be privatized, now is the time to contact your MPP, Chris Hodgson, and let him know your opinion. As a member of Cabinet, Chris will have a voice in determining the process for all agencies on the privatization list, as well as a key role in the final decision.

If you appreciate TVO's non-violent programming for children and teens, the opportunities for distance learning, the first rate drama and documentaries, the arts coverage, the only current affairs program in the world devoted to Ontario--and no commercials!--then call Chris's constituency office now (1-800-424-2490). Act now. Later may be too late.

Food drive nets 600 pounds

Editor:

The United campgrounds of Laxton, Township held a food drive at Ward Park in Norland on Thanksgiving Sunday. 600 pounds of food were collected and taken to the Salvation Army in Fenelon Falls.

Captain Fred Caughie was at Ward Park and helped transport the food to Fenelon Falls. Rick Proudfoot, vice chairman of the association, and I then had a very informative talk with Captain Caughie.

The Captain pointed out that there is a sad lack of food in their depot during the summer months.

I later talked with our treasurer, Mrs. Billie Grozelle, who heads the committee on public relations and charity needs. Billie and her brother-in-law Roger Grozelle were at the park with chairman John Unwin when the food was collected.

In 1997, we hope to fill the need for food during the summer months by holding a second food drive on Sunday of the Canada Day weekend.

During the summer we will collect toys, bicycles, tricycles, wagons, skates and hockey equipment for the Salvation Army in Fenelon Falls.

We would also like to inform everyone that the Coboconk Civitan Food bank is in desperate need of supplies.

Senior Redmen defend Kawartha West title

The HHSS Senior Redmen have once again successfully defended their Kawartha West title. The team defeated Fenelon Falls in the last game of the regular season. The score was 27 to 7.

The win capped an undefeated season for the seniors and the team automatically advances to the Kawartha play-offs.

Mike Bradley was the outstanding offensive player in the game, scoring all four touch-downs. Bradley rushed for approximately 250 yards during the contest, making what coach Tim Davies described as, "some unbelievable cuts against the grain to elude the Fenelon defense."

Kicker Darrin Mills added two conversions and a punt single to cap the scoring for the Redmen.

Greg Simmons was handed the quarterback duties for the crucial contest, as the regular signal caller, George Godfrey was on the sick list.

Coach Davies also had praise for de-

There were lots of goals to go around Saturday as the Minden Major Mites hosted their counterparts from Bobcaygeon. Unfortunately, all of the 24 goals were scored at one end of the ice. Despite the lopsided nature of the game, players from both teams appeared pleased to be back on the ice and playing hockey again. The Minden squad was gracious in its win, with the scoreboard only registering at 9-0 margin. Brady Hicks and Shredry Walker each scored five goals in the contest, with Kyle Fry and Jordan Joanu netting four. Matthew Eno scored three with a pair going to Mike Lennox and a single to Derrek Carpenter.

"It was a whole new team," coach Bruce Griffith said following the game. "They caught us by surprise."

Despite the loss, the Junior Redmen finished the regular season in first place. Somewhat ironically, they must now face the second place finisher, Fenelon Falls, to decide the Kawartha West championship.

The Redmen opened the scoring in the first quarter when Ryan O'Neill

HOT SHOTS

A hail of pucks still ends in two very close games

There was a barrage of goals in both games Monday night in the Men's Recreational Hockey League....34 in total, but after the smoke had cleared, the winning team in each contest emerged with just a single point spread.

In the opening contest, Kountry Double D Catering defeated Hartwick Construction 11-10, while the second match saw Home Hardware edge Westside Jug City 7-6.

Craig Crowe led the attack for the caterers, scoring five goals, one unassisted. Charlie Teljeur scored a pair for the winners and added an assist to his record. Also notching markers for Double D were Scott Hamilton with an unassisted goal and five assists, John Hewson and Greg Hurlle with a single and one assist each. Scot Danilko assisted on four of his teammates markers while Curtis Reynold played back-up on three. Rob Crowe was in net.

Andrew Burke led the charge for Hartwick, notching four goals and two assists. Glen Hall picked up three goals on the night. Other markers went to Bern Berry with an unassisted single and two assists, aces from Mark Thompson and Jarrett Campbell, who also had two assists. Tom Bagshaw was credited with four assists with Wyatt Nesbitt assisting on three and Jason Stamp and Terry Allore getting credit for a single each. Netminder was Shane Flood.

Joe Sullivan was the leading scorer for Home Hardware in the win. He notched three goals and an assist Monday night. Other goals were scored by Dean Sisson with a pair and an assist, Scott Nesbitt with one and one and Scot Brodie with a single. Steve McCracken and Mike Keaney picked up a pair of assists with singles going to Chris Eskelin, John Stephenson, Derrick Moore, Peter Allore and Clarke Craig. Terry Crowe was in net for the winners.

The top scorer for Westside Jug City was John Ballentyne who notched a pair. Other goal getters included Tony van Lieshout with a single and three assists, Gord Wood with one and one and singles from Ben Manuge and Sheldon Stevenson. Single assists went to Jamie Dollo, Kent Taylor, Darnell Gilbert and Doug Schell. Brett Foster was the netminder for Westside.

Men's Recreational Hockey games are played every Monday night at 8 and 9:30 p.m. at the Minden arena.

Soccer teams end season with losses: ready for next year

The HHSS senior soccer team ended the season with a 2-1 loss to Fenelon Falls. Nick Fawcett scored the only Redmen goal.

Coach Peter Bertelsen noted that despite the loss in the last game, it was a good season for the team. He pointed out the players were an excellent team to work with and many have indicated a desire to return next year. Some have expressed an interest in participating in a summer soccer league, which means the team could hit the field running next season.

The Junior kickers also closed the season with a 6-1 loss. The lone Redmen goal was scored by Perry Belekoukias on a penalty kick.

Coach Paul Klose said that despite the loss, as far as he is concerned the season ended on a positive note. "The kids play with a lot of heart. It was a building year," he commented, noting, "Many of the players will be returning."

ensive linebacker Jamie Swinson who made a number of important hits in containing the Fenelon attack.

The team now has a two weeks rest as the players wait for a play-off game to decide their opponents for the Kawartha title. Two Peterborough schools, Thomas A. Stewart Secondary and Crestwood will play this week in their final match-up. Coach Davies said the team will benefit by the two week play-off as there is some healing to be done before heading into the next championship.

The Redmen will host the contest scheduled for Friday November 1 at 2 p.m. kicked a single. However, before the half ended, Fenelon scored a touchdown to put the home squad ahead 7-1.

In the second half, tailback Jason Henry ran the ball across the line for a touchdown. The conversion was unsuccessful and the teams were locked in a 7-7 tie.

The Redmen had several opportunities to score but were blocked by the sturdy Fenelon Falls defence.

The Falcons scored a safety touch in the final minutes of the game and were able to deflect any Redmen advance leaving the game at 8-7.

Whether it was complacency or not, the juniors will be practising hard this week so they can be in the best shape possible for the Friday game, coach Griffith commented. He noted the team has home field advantage and that will certainly be in the team's favour.

Game time for this Kawartha West championship play-off is 2 p.m.

Reprieve breathes new life into Minden's Hospital

Buffeted by a year and a half of insecurity, the Minden Hospital has been given (relatively speaking) a long-term plan that has brought a little stability into the lives of those who work in the facility. The new outlook also provides an opportunity to examine the changes which have taken place in the hospital's operation over the past 18 months. Times reporter Andrew Milne talked with some of the key players, many of whom requested anonymity, about the new emerging role of the Minden Hospital.

For a service that was supposed to be in critical condition, the Minden Hospital is showing some very promising signs of life.

The lights are still on. A warm glow pours from the windows through the night. Out in the parking lot, the backlit big H is still shining brightly. It looks like it's going to continue to do so for at least the next little while.

The Haliburton Highlands Health Board's recent decision to keep the facility open 24 hours a day for the remainder of the fiscal year, (until the end of March), comes as a huge relief for the hospital staff. Most were living month to month not knowing what would happen next.

They also say that this is a hospital that has earned a reprieve.

There is still a lingering atmosphere of disappointment here, for all that the facility is still running. It's absorbed a lot of hits in the past two years. Former owner, St. Joseph's of Peterborough, once proposed reducing the service to an office hour's walk-in-clinic, and for a while, it looked as if the facility might be closed altogether. Since April of 1995, the Minden Hospital has lost its in-patient ward, and most of its staff. For the very few nurses still at their posts now, there's a sense of being the few bewildered survivors of tragedy and of turbulent times.

The workload is heavy, and there's very much a sense of being in uncharted territory. The board which runs this place now seems to be willing to try some rather bizarre experiments to keep the place open, and that's meant some odd situations in the past few weeks — union negotiators meeting with administration in last minute sessions (the real thing, and the cliché is entirely justified) to work out the details of proposals that would have seen ambulance staff moved to the hospital, and nursing staff entirely on call. The doctors, says one nurse, are always thinking of costs. How to get it done, and get it done cheaper, is the order of the day, and a matter of survival.

They're a little bitter on that score too. Says one, "I'm told we've saved around $400,000 through the cuts made here. It would be nice to know some of that would come back to this community."

Despite all that, however, there's a subtle sense of something — something related to euphoria — in the old building's halls. This tiny facility, says staff, has done itself proud in the past few months.

The community has already seen some evidence of this — the hospital's vital signs — the usage statistics — started creeping back up this summer. For example, the air ambulance was called in to the facility four times in the last week. And local people seem to be coming back to the hospital.

Though they're a little reticent about saying it publicly, the nurses in the ward say there's a very good reason people are coming back to the hospital: the hospital is getting better at what it does.

There's little ambiguity, either, about who to thank for that.

"It's the doctors," says one nurse. They're just wonderful. They're great to work with, and they're great with the patients. And they know what they're doing."

Another adds, "We have done things here we would never have even thought of doing before. That's the doctors' work."

The air ambulance has been called to the Minden Hospital four times during the past week...an indication of the vital importance of the facility.

The doctors come from nearby central Ontario communities. The idea of bringing them in first came from a local committee, who proposed it as a last ditch effort. The only other option was to allow the hospital to close when Minden's last full-time doctor departed unexpectedly in April of 1995.

St. Joseph's closed the in-patient ward immediately, and seemed to be planning to shut the hospital altogether. Instead, a local group urged the hiring of Med-Emerge — a company which supplies doctors who fill in on a contract basis for hospitals that find themselves short staffed (though usually not in as critical state as the Minden facility was at the time). The action kept the facility going until a deal could be worked out with the team of doctors who currently staff the emergency department.

Since then, it's the doctors working the ward who should be credited for keeping the place open. They came partly on their own initiative, partly at the behest of St. Joseph's Hospital. They worked out a shift roster among themselves to make it possible, most travelling many miles to get here.

Doug Campbell, a health board member who's gone to bat for the hospital more than a few times in the past few years says, "They've done a great job."

"They've just done some superb work here. They took on the chore — of upgrading the training of each and every nurse on our staff. I've heard comments from nurses — and these are not new nurses, but rather more experienced ones — that they had learned more in the past year working with these doctors than they had in the last ten years. These doctors have taken the time to train them...teach them each person's role, how to carry it out, and work as a team in emerge..."

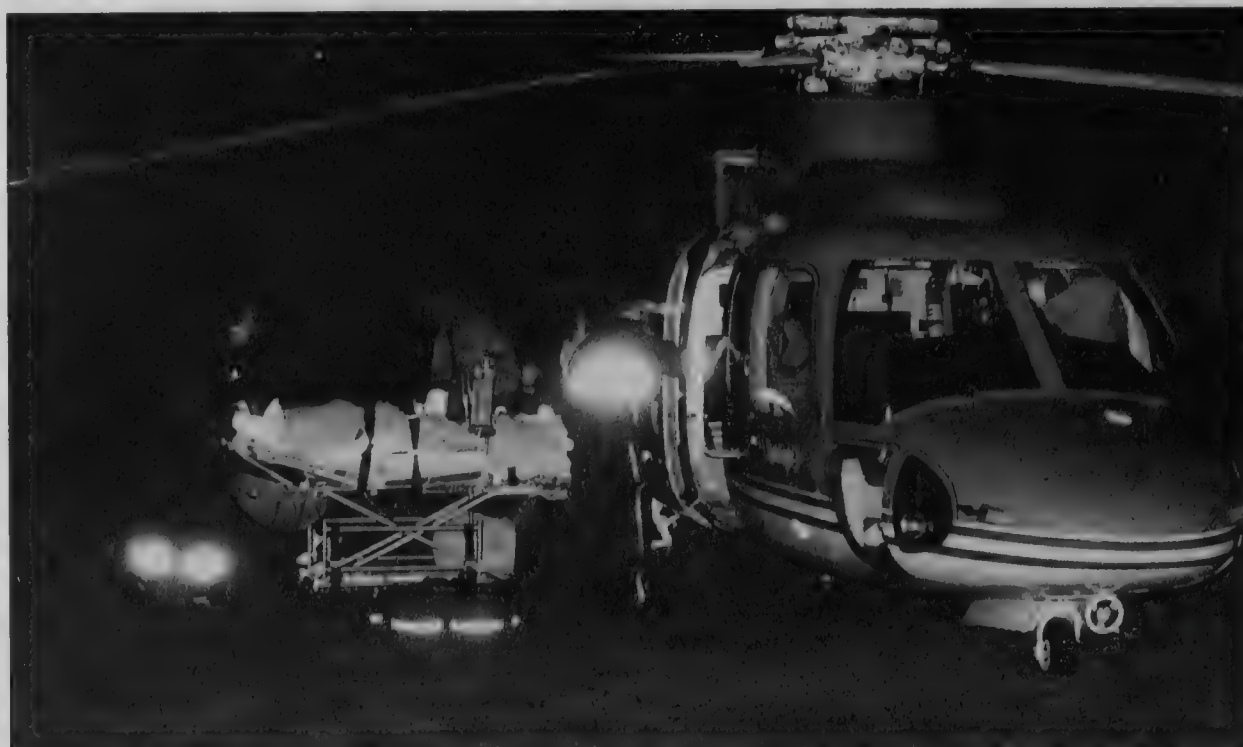

"They're great to work with, professional, and they seem to like what they do. This community owes them an enormous debt of gratitude. The hospital couldn't operate without them. With They're great with the older patients. They put them at ease, take the panic out of them."

Ambulance attendants seem to feel the same way. They're not supposed to talk to the press, however one said privately, after hearing the hospital's 24 hour operation will be maintained, "This is a great little place now. They do a great job. They can't close this place. No way."

The statistics, say staff, confirm a feeling that's been growing throughout the summer: people are regaining confidence in the hospital.

Says one, "We really went through some tough times, and I think maybe people were scared away. Maybe we weren't doing things as well as we could have. Everyone has just been under tremendous pressure. But we're them, it does very well."

"I've been in there, when there's a patient in emergency, and it's really something to see. They do what they have to do. It's quick, and efficient — there's hardly a word passing from one to the other. Everyone knows what his or her job is, and gets it done."

Campbell reserves special praise for doctors Doug and Dave Fiddler — twin brothers from Lindsay and Peterborough who put much of the initiative together — and for the head of Ross Memorial Hospital's emergency department group Bob Anthony.

"The Fiddler boys," he says, "have their heart and soul in their work... Anthony, he's just a magnificent communicator. I put the question to him once, and asked him why he comes here. He said: 'One; you have just a grand group of nurses here; two; I don't have all the fancy machines and monitors up here to work with. It takes me right back to the basics of medicine. I have to look at the patient directly, try to work out what's wrong with him.' And that's something he obviously enjoys."

"The other thing that's very noticeable is the patients have taken the doctors unto themselves — they've accepted 'ownership' of these people, and the doctors have responded...

getting better and better, and word is getting around... What we've been hearing from the patients is they come here first because the care is good. And that's what we like to hear."

Doctor David Fiddler — a man who's been at the centre of the arrangements to keep the emergency department doctors in Minden — and one of the people who can probably claim as much credit for the facility's turnaround as anyone, is reluctant to do so. He won't even say he's proud.

But ask him, and he confesses that yes, he's happy, and even allows himself a cautious smile.

"I'm very pleased," he said, in the wake of the board's decision to maintain the 24 hour service. "I couldn't be more pleased."

A recent experience, says staff, put a lot of the difficulty of the past few years in perspective. A mother came in with an emergency birth. There were complications — complications serious enough that they were very happy this hospital was still here.

"That baby probably would have died if we hadn't been here," says one nurse. "We were here. They lived."

"That's something," she says softly, "you take home with you."

Eliminating boards would reduce local input and accountability trustees say boards, slow reduction of the bureaucracy, though you have to have some leadership by people who are paid, and paid well..." However, the breadth of the move, the elimination of all boards, as the story in the Toronto Star indicated, did catch him by surprise. "This is rather disturbing. It's rather undemocratic," he commented.

Both Salvatori and Ladurantaye expressed concern that local, democratic control of the system would be greatly reduced under such a plan, with a remote bureaucracy running the schools, unable or unwilling to listen or respond to local concerns.

"It's like it is with referees," Ladurantaye said — you kind of like to bash them a little bit, and trustees take the heat quite often, as does the administration. But when it gets right down to it, do you want to be without them? I say this as a taxpayer, and a parent, not just a trustee: No, I want them here. I want them here to yell at when I'm not happy with things. It may not change anything, but I want to know they're here to listen and to hear my point, so the next time they're making a decision they'll remember there's this side to consider too. Those things are really important to people... I've heard that quite often from people."

Parent councils, she says, have benefits. But, with their current powers, they aren't going to be able to replace boards.

Said Ladurantaye, "Accountability is best served by democracy. The ministry keeps saying it wants accountability, but if everything is run out of Queen's Park, and it has inspectors who run around to school zones, how do parents as individuals come forward with ideas? Right now, if you look at the agenda at any of the board meetings, some things don't fit at a school council level. Some things wouldn't fit if municipalities were taking over busing. There are a lot of issues that don't fit any set agenda. Where do you go to handle those? Do you have to run down to Queen's Park? Is anybody going to listen? If you have to go to your regional office — and ours would be in Barrie — is anyone there going to care about a problem in Cardiff? Or in JD Hodgson for that matter?"

Said Salvatori, "I think that trustees are the same kinds of people who are on parent councils. They are there because they're interested in kids. I've always been interested in kids, been interested in education. They're the same people who are on the council. And I don't know how it could possibly work if they're going to five regions. If you're thrown in with such a huge number of people, I don't know how you could resolve anything."

Stanhope's historic log chute needs repairs

The historic log chute at Big Hawk Lake is in need of complete replacement, the October 9 meeting of Stanhope municipal council was told. A preliminary estimate of the cost of replacement is $57,000. If the chute is to be replaced, outside sources of funding will be required.

The Heritage Committee will explore the possibility of a historical/heritage grant. Large logging and lumber companies may also be approached to see if there is any interest in contributing to the project.

Deputy-Reeve Eleanor Harrison said the Hawk Lake log chute is believed to be one of only two in the province.

Reeve Jock Mavor noted that some Infrastructure funding may be available in the future, but he added that somebody would have to be found to pick up the township's share of the cost.

Dump hours changed

As of March, 1997, the Stanhope landfill sites will be open on Holiday Mondays the same hours as Saturdays (7 a.m. to 5 p.m.). Attendants have kept track of traffic at the sites after 5 p.m. on holiday Mondays and they report that the number of people using the dumps past 5 p.m. is minimal.

Notices of the change will be included with tax bills.

Fire prevention

Stanhope Fire Chief Bob Pollard said that several volunteer fire fighters were out during Fire Prevention Week... selling smoke detectors and batteries to Stanhope residents. Pollard said that concern was expressed about the number of homes that didn't have smoke alarms or did have alarms which were not functioning properly

Trains return to Kinmount Station

The Kinmount Model Railroad Club's display, sponsored by the Kinmount Lions Club, was officially opened Saturday, October 12. The display is (appropriately) housed in the old Kinmount Train Station.

The display was a co-operative effort of club members. Henry Kunz of Bobcaygeon designed the landscape. Bruce Stinson of Bobcaygeon produced most of the building and bridge models from scratch. Dan Klochhoff painted the backdrops for the display, working from photographs of the locations along the line. Doug Stephen of Toronto painted models and Roy Warner of Toronto and Herman Forsma of Irondale, assisted with the construction and assembly of the display. Bob Mitchell, Chair of the club, coordinated the project. Mitchell has a permanent residence on the shore of Crystal Lake.

Because of ill health, Stinson is unable to continue his work building models to scale from old photographs. Mitchell appeals to anyone who has the skill and an interest to take over the job to give him a call at 488-2057.

"We want to keep it as authentic as possible," Mitchell said. He added that he would encourage anyone interested in model railroading to join the club.

Council rejects latest sign proposal

While Anson, Hindon and Minden council sings "sign, sign, everywhere a sign," Richard Milewski is singing "I can't get no satisfaction."

Milewski, owner of R&W Bakery and Delicatessen in Minden, has been trying to convince council that a sign is needed to direct visitors to Minden to the businesses across the bridge from the main part of the village. He has presented a concept for a sign, which he would like to have erected next to the bridge, in front of the D&S Discount store.

Council rejected Milewski's first proposal, which named only the businesses on the north side of the bridge, saying that it wasn't fair not to list the businesses on the south side.

Milewski returned to council October 10 with a proposed sign that would allow all of the businesses to be represented. Milewski approached business owners on both sides of the bridge and asked them to indicate whether or not they would wish to be included on the sign. Some did, and some didn't. His concept sign included only the ones who indicated a desire to be included.

Dimensions of the proposed sign were larger than council was willing to accept, citing a hazard to motorists (who would not have time to read the names without holding up traffic or causing an accident) and the fact that a sign of such proportions would be an eyesore.

Council gave the okay for a small sign that says "business section", with arrows pointing to both sides of the bridge.

Milewski was back at council on October 10 trying to convince council members of the merits of promoting the businesses on both sides of the bridge. Milewski's proposed sign didn't include enough changes from the previous design to sway council, although Councillor Sinc Nesbitt had no objections to the latest submission.

To include the names of businesses on both sides of the bridge, the proposed sign would be 12 feet wide and 11 feet tall. Milewski proposed putting it where the flower bed is, leaving the flower bed intact.

Councillor Daryl Moore said that he wouldn't support such a sign without letters from each business, stating whether or not they wanted to be represented on such a sign and were aware of the cost. He also objected to the idea of such a large sign at that location.

Reeve Jeanne Anthon said she thought the concept was a good one, but the proposed location didn't appeal to her at all. She was concerned that it could create a hazard for motorists and pedestrians, as well as cause a decrease in the aesthetics of the main street and block the view of the river.

It was suggested that such a sign might be better placed closer to Highway 35 at the Home Hardware property, a more suitable location.

Deputy-Reeve Jerry Rome and Councillor Grant Ploord also voiced their disapproval of the proposed location.

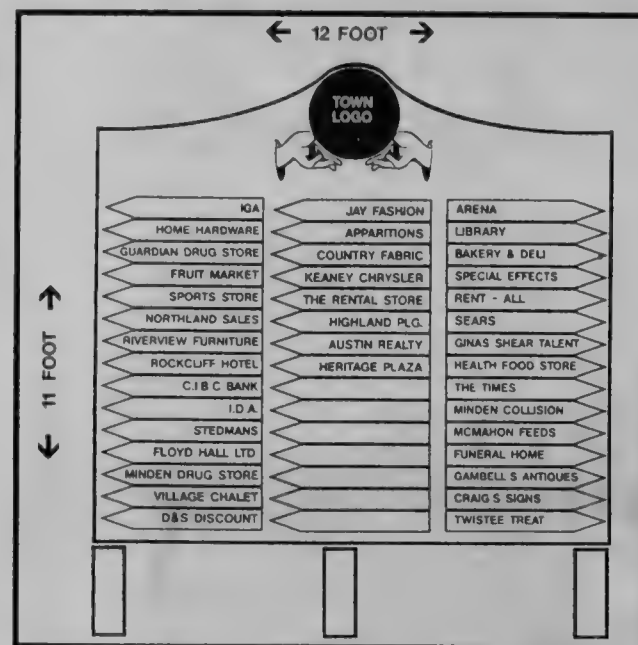

It was suggested that Milewski approach the Minden BIA (Business Improvement Area) to get some input and suggestions. But, Reeve Anthon cautioned that there is no guarantee that council would approve a sign proposal even if it received the support of the BIA.

"You know what council wants," Moore told Milewski. "Bring us something we can work with and help out with."

In spite of the lack of support from council, Milewski remains optimistic.

"If I keep knocking, one day the door will be opened," he said. "I see there is some spark and where there's a spark, there could be a fire."

Proposed sign design: each finger board is 44 by 5.5 inches with 2.5 inch lettering.

The School Bus Operators Of Haliburton County Would Like To Remind You That The Week Of October 21 - 25 Is School Safety Week

PRACTICE THE FOLLOWING SCHOOL BUS SAFETY TIPS AT ALL TIMES

At the bus stop

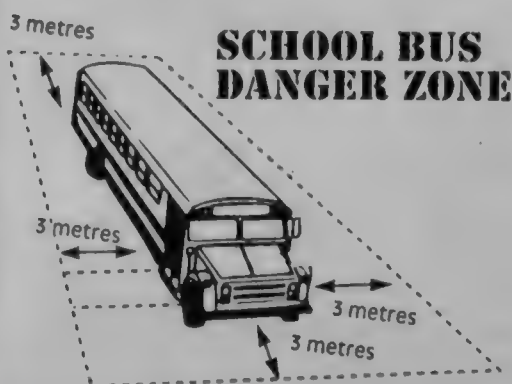

Dress appropriately. Be at the bus stop on time. Wait well away from the road - no pushing or shoving. If you must cross the road wait for the bus to stop, look both ways and look to the driver for their signal that it's okay to cross. Use the hand rail when boarding.

On the bus

Take your seat and stay there until it's time to get off. Don't open your windows without the driver's permission, never put your arms or head out the window. Speak quietly don't yell or scream. Listen to the driver, do what he/she says!

Getting off the bus

Carry all your belongings in a knapsack or bag - never try to carry it all in your arms. Use the hand rail when leaving the bus. Walk three steps from the side of the bus and ten steps forward before crossing in front of the bus. Stop and look back to the driver for his/her signal telling you it is safe to cross - remember to walk not run. If you hear the bus horn sound, Stop and look back to the driver for direction. Should you drop something while crossing 'leave it there' until the bus has gone - then with the help of an older person go back and get it. DO NOT CHASE AFTER ANYTHING, BEND DOWN TO PICK IT UP OR RUN BACK IN FRONT OF THE BUS TO RETRIEVE IT!

Alternatives proposed to current forestry practises

by Andrew Milne

The future of forestry, commented Nancy Bayly, is going to be a lot different.

Bayly, of the Wildlands League, a nonprofit group studying sustainability and environmental issues, commented "It's very clear that many of the current practices aren't sustainable, and that we're going to have to find new ways of doing things. We're here to suggest what some of those might be, but we don't have all the answers." She was one of several speakers at a conference on forestry sponsored by the Eco-Tourism program held recently at the Haliburton Campus of Sir Sandford Fleming College.

Bayly also spoke of the promise of environmentally sustainable methods of forestry, and the possibilities for the generation of more, rather than fewer, jobs, with innovation and more varied approaches to land use.

Said Bayly, "One thing that is key is that control over forestry practices, and, if possible, the trade derived from forestry, has to be kept locally. The community has to be able to make its own decisions."

Among other alternative uses proposed — as adjuncts to traditional forestry, or directions to pursue within traditional forestry — Bayly suggested:

- investigating mushroom farming, as an additional land use practice, or a replacement for traditional forestry,

- concentrating on local development, within the context of forestry — assuring that timber products harvested locally are processed locally,

- using older, or less intrusive methods of harvesting, to preserve forests for longer periods, and to increase employment.

- a labelling program, similar to programs developed in BC and elsewhere, in which forest products produced by sustainable methods are labelled, so consumers can make their own choice.

Wildlands' executive director Tim Gray also addressed the seminar.

Bayly and Gray also pointed to forest product industries that employ more, rather than fewer people locally, as possibilities for woodland regions looking for development. Among other possibilities, they suggested canoe and boat building as a labour-intensive industry, which generates more revenue and requires much more labour for a given amount of resource than, say, pulpwood production.

Says Gray, "It's all the direction you want to go. But you have to think about who you're competing with, and what your niche is. I don't think Canadians should really pin their hopes on fibre board, because there are South American regions that can grow trees appropriate for that use in weeks, rather than years. The question is, what can we do best?"

A few landowners who were present had varied reactions to the suggestions.

Godfrey Tyler, a local landowner who owns a woodlot, protested that there is no incentive to sell harvested timber locally.

Said Tyler, "Why should I have to sell it locally, if I can get more selling it outside the area? I mean, what does it do for me?"

Gray responded that those are questions for the community itself to decide.

Says Gray, "We can't say. It would be presumptuous for us to come in here and tell you how to do things. You have to decide that for yourselves."

Wildlands executive director Tim Gray, and Nancy Bayly, address the forestry meeting. Gray and Bayly suggested forestry-based regions should take measures, where possible, to keep trade from timber production local.

Busy month at Branch 636

Bonjour!

October is almost over and it's been a wet Fall so far. The colours are very nice, but not spectacular. However, at the time of writing, the leaves are still hanging on and looking good.

Our Branch has been busy as usual with a lot of out of town visitors being bussed in to see the colours and visiting our legion for lunch.

October 6, we had a Thanksgiving smorgasbord with Kidd Country providing the entertainment. It was very successful with a sellout crowd, dancing and great food.

Karaoke Night was Saturday, October 12. Everyone had a good time and a great homemade stew dinner.

We are having our annual "Honours & Awards" night Saturday, October 19. By the time this goes to print, the results will be in and will be reported in next month's column.

Trivia Night was changed from October 16 to October 23 at 7:30 p.m. Keith Welbourn has been working in Toronto and is unable to emcee on the 16th. So on the 23rd yours truly will be helping Keith out.

Sunday, October 27 will be Bev Johnson's very successful and entertaining "Big Bucks Euchre" starting at 11:45 a.m. for lunch. Games start at 1 p.m. $10 per person.

Our Annual Poppy Campaign will be held November 1 to November 9. Please support our volunteers to make this worthwhile project successful.

The Remembrance Day Service will be held November 10 at the County Cairn.

Don't forget euchre every Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. and every Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m.

I forgot to mention that on the Thanksgiving

Trenton, Mount Hope and back to Toronto.

After discharge, I went back to work at GM for Service Clubs

by Alan (Cub) Coneybeare

Smorgasbord afternoon both the door prize and the 50/50 draw were won by Jean Mayo. (The luck of the Irish, eh?)

Member profile

My monthly profile this time zeros in on Bob Wiltshire and his lovely, hard-working wife Joyce. Bob is a concerned Legionnaire involved in our colour party as well as other activities. Joyce toils at our daily lunches, volunteering on a regular basis. Bob provided us with the following information:

R.J. Wiltshire: I was born July 8, 1925 on a farm in North York Township. My childhood was spent in Newtonbrook, Ontario now Willowdale. I attended school there and Earl Haig Collegiate Institute in Willowdale.

After my father died in 1940, things were kind of tough and my mother and sister went to work. I had to wait until I turned 16. I joined GMAC in October 1941 and upon turning 18, with the War going on, I joined the RCAF in October 1943. My service took me from Manning Depot to Winnipeg to Kingston,

$$$ I met my future bride at GM and we were married March 17, 1950. Between May 1954 and June 1957 we had three children, the last one being born on the front seat of my car on the way to hospital at 8 a.m.

During the ensuing years we were transferred from Toronto to Windsor, back to Toronto then to Hamilton on to Oshawa and finally to Toronto. I took early retirement in 1980.

With retirement in our future as far back as 1968, we sold our cottage on Boshkung and purchased a Lot on the east side of Boshkung and had a permanent home built.

Upon retirement in July 1980, we settled in our home on Boshkung. Our youngest was married in June 1982 and Gary, our eldest was married in October 1984. Our daughter decided a working life was for her and has enjoyed a career with the Royal Bank, ending up in head office in Toronto.

Since retirement Joyce and I joined the Minden Curling Club, Rotary Club, where I served as treasurer and secretary for seven years and was a director for Staunworth Non-Profit Housing for ten years. We have spent our winters in Florida, keeping away from the white stuff.

In 1992 we sold our property on Boshkung Lake and moved to Hunter Creek Estates where life is a little easier with less maintenance to worry about.

Insignificant Facts:

The length of beard an average man would grow if he never shaved in his lifetime: Nearly 30 feet.

The amount of time an average man spends shaving: 3350 hours (about 140 days or 84 work weeks). This applies to the average guy, not Al Cheesman.

The rate at which Baby Boomers (those born between 1946 and 1964) are turning 50 years old: 11,520 per day.

Definition of stupid: Thinking your wife's been to church when she comes home with a Gideon Bible.

Till next month! Thanks!!

Lost, then found, thanks to a the help of many

The following story of Ridgewood School student Andy and his dog Bobbi was submitted by Edward Purdy of Kinmount.

The ordeal of Bobbi, a female Sheltie, and her seven year old owner, Andy, shows people still care and will help, if asked. On September 23, Andy left his dog at a veterinarian clinic and expected to pick her up after school. An assistant decided to let Bobbi do her business outside before the vet started. Unfortunately when returning, Bobbi stopped, backed up, and slipped her collar. Sheltie nature is to be a one family dog and the clinic employees did their best, in cold rain, to find her, but had to phone the owner's parents for help. For an unknown reason, Bobbi did not want to come to anyone that day.

Andy, his parents, clinic employees and area residents all did their part, but they could find no sign of Bobbi. Exactly two weeks went by before Bobbi was seen again. A mother, returning to the school, phoned saying she had seen the dog. Andy and his dad went to the area and searched, with the woman helping, in the cold rain, until she was talked into taking her son home. The idea of a school yard with kids dropping food stuck. Checking the yard, Bobbi was seen. With too many people around, Bobbi turned and ran back into the bush.

This search, finally, after two weeks, gave hope of getting Bobbi back. The problem was how to do it. On October 9, the vet assistant asked the Ministry of Natural Resources for the loan of a small bear trap. The man in charge of the trap, Dave Camelon, said the trap could be borrowed for as long as it took and gave instructions on its use and set-up.

The bear trap did not directly catch Bobbi, but the dog was used to a run and sleeping in an indoor cage at night. The trap made it possible to have food and Andy's clothes to create an environment with which Bobbi was familiar. Andy finally got Bobbi to come to him. Bobbi, in apparent good shape after two weeks in the bush, had a chin full of quills. The vet removed the quills and Bobbi is now home with Andy. To those who notice a lack of names, it's intentional. Accidents happen and if we are all condemned for our first mistakes....

- to the veterinarian and staff, doing everything possible, including walking through bush and swamp in the rain, day or night.

- to the public school, from Principal to students, who allowed a bear trap in the yard, all the time watching for Bobbi.

- to area residents, who not only watched, but enquired about the status of the search.

- to Dave Camelon, a government employee with the MNR who gave time, equipment and advice for an unknown lost dog and then returned to improve the trap for future use when pet owners lose their pets.

- to all those who helped, Andy's parents say thank you for making our seven year old happy and able to sleep easier once again.

Around the County Town

by Gord Graham (call 286-6506 - FAX 286-3460)

The 1st Minden Beavers, Cubs and Scouts would like to thank all those who made Apple Day on October 12 such a great success. Come out and continue your support on Saturday, October 26 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Minden Fruit and Vegetable Market where the Cubs and Scouts will carve a pumpkin for you.

The Ridgewood School Advisory Council in Coboconk will be holding its next meeting, in the school, Tuesday, October 22 at 7 p.m. Parents and community representatives are welcome. For more information call 705-454-9861 or 454-3351.

Household hazardous waste, if not disposed of properly, can be harmful to your health and the environment. Look for alternatives to products that contain hazardous materials. Generally, substitutes can be purchased in the grocery store. Items, such as borax, baking soda, vinegar, lemon juice and salt, make excellent cleaners. Boiling water, poured down the stopped up drain, also makes for a good substitute. Fact sheets are available at Minden's Municipal office. The Nation's Waste Reduction Week is officially November 4-10 but reducing toxic chemicals around the home should be part of your everyday living.

Minden Women's Institute October meeting

There were 14 members and two guests welcomed by President Jean Cox to the October 16 meeting of the Minden Women's Institute at the home of Mary Wilson. The president told of some of the many projects completed by Women's Institute branches.

The usual program followed with Irene Moore reporting to have sent 13 cards over the past month on a variety of occasions. Collections for the Pennies for Friendship and Card Fund were taken.

Plans were made for the members to attend the Workshop on Local history, in Lindsay, October 30. Also, supplies of muffins, pies and workers will go to the Victoria East Big Bucks Euchre at Burnt River of Thursday October 31. This is a Victoria District fund-raiser.

Jeanne Sears introduced our guest speaker, Jeanne Anthon, our Reeve. She Acquired brain injury support meetings for peers and caregivers will be held at the Haliburton Health Unit from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Wednesday, October 23. Refreshments will be served. For more information call Nancy at 705-457-1600 or Cheryl at 705-741-1172.

Visitors over the Holiday weekend with Florence Robinson were Ern Voycey and Linda Voycey from Gamebridge and Eileen Cockburn of Woodville. Also visiting with Florence and Janice Shaw and family were Bradley and family from Toronto.

On Thursday, October 24 in the Burnt River Library from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. come and meet "Max", the new computer. Information on the Kawartha net hook-up will be available. Refreshments served.

The Peterborough and District Head Injury Association is holding its fifth annual Halloween dance on Friday, October 25 starting at 8:00 p.m. at the Coyote Cave, 1135 Landsdowne St. W., Peterborough. For more information, call 705-741-1172.

This writer enjoyed weekend company. Eric and Audrey Mahony visited from Oakville, Ethel Crawford from St. Catharines and Eileen and Buffy Nicol from Toronto.

One wonders why Ed Hancock, one of Minden's foremost landscape painters, would buy a bus ticket to Toronto to attend the showing at the Art Gallery of Ontario on October 30. Surely, Ed, as a pro, doesn't need lessons from others' efforts. But, as Ed explains: "It is always a wonderful experience to see the masters. It takes you away from the mundane world and it's very therapeutic when you have problems. It could be a spiritual thing like visiting a cathedral".

Club 35 holds euchre games every Monday at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend. Partners are not required. Last week Jeanne Penick and Harry Randell had the high scores, Olive Jones held the most lone hands and Helen Lee won the 50-50 draw.

Contract bridge is played in the Stanhope Library every Tuesday at 1:00 p.m. Partners are not required so why not challenge yourself? Last week's winners were Betty Culley first, Earl Hayne second and Helen Heald third. A small slam was bid and made by Helen and Earl.

Seniors get together every Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. for bid euchre in the Minden Legion. Last week Marcel Rousselle was first, Ann Baker second and Kay Smith/Bill Menard tied for third. Pat Rousselle had the hidden score. Kay Smith has been away for such a time due to a serious illness so naturally, everyone was thrilled she was back.

Winners of the euchre games in the Community Centre in Gelert last week were Dorothy McElwain and Gerald Hicks with the high scores and Marvin Gilbert with the most lone hands. Come out and join them each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. This week it's held in Lochlin.

Bid euchre is also played in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall every Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. Last week's winners were Betty Skinner with 340, Olive Jones 301, Walter Ackerblade 300 and Don Burch 280. There were 4 moonshots.

The top winners of euchre played in the Minden Legion on October 10 were Pat Rousselle/Ken Young with the high scores and Ida Young/Murray MacKinnon with the most lone hands. Congratulations to the other 7 winners. Meet every Thursday at 7:15 p.m.

Club 35 has branched into bid euchre every Friday at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome to join in and partners are not required. The top winners of the October 11 games were Dorothy Walters 298, Betty Harper 261 and Marg Fletcher 258. Grace Dixon had the hidden score. There were 6 moonshots.

HEALTH CORNER

Imagine a city of more than 4 million people, where the population will multiply in the next 2 decades. Well, that's just how many Canadians suffer from arthritis. That is a term used for several related conditions, such as fibromyalgia, lupus and rheumatoid arthritis but osteoarthritis is by far the most common of the disorders, affecting 1 person in 10. The biggest recent change in the treatment of this type of arthritis is the role of exercise in the management and treatment of the disease. Where once it was thought that activity accelerated the wear on cartilage, the fact is that exercise actually slows some of the effects of the disease.

CARDS OF THANKS

Many thanks to Dr. Naveed Mohammad, head nurse and expedient staff on duty September 20, 1996 at Minden Hospital, caring for my heart attack. Without the hospital's existence, my heart would have been damaged much more severely. My thanks for ALL of my family's support, Rick Beeny and Boomer, Chummer, that day, we could have used the Pontiac. Thanks again, Joe Nicholson.

Wow! What a Surprise!

We want to thank everyone who came to our good-bye party last Friday. You don't realize how many friends one has until it comes time to say goodbye to each of them. To all of you who were there and those who have said their goodbyes before, thank you for touching our lives, you each will always have a special place in our hearts. To our family, Bill and Sybil, Cindy, Blaine and Alexander - a special thank you; to the chocolate-flinging lady - thanks Nancy. To everyone who has promised to come and visit - we are counting on it. Hang in there Minden - we hope to see you soon. Laurey, Herby, Megan and Lee Roodenburg.

Thank you for being there, the best wishes, cards, gifts, congratulatory messages for our 50th wedding anniversary. To our children, daughters and sons-in-law, our grandchildren, you all made our day so special. Thanks to Hazel McInnis and Burnt River U.C.W. Thanks to Reeve Huke, Somerville, Harry Danforth M.P.P., Peter Franzen, Galway for their presentations. Bill & Mildred St. Thomas.

All personal classified ads appear on The Times Web Site and Cable Ten in Minden at no additional charge.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thank you very much to Mr. Bill Yeo of Staunworth Terrace who, when taking his daily walk, helped in locating my purse and all its contents behind the Minden Arena.

A Much Appreciative
Ginger Kulas.

IN MEMORIAM

BESNER, David - In loving memory of my dear husband who was taken away October 23, 1995.

*His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day I hope to meet him,
Some day, I know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
Sadly missed and always loved by Lisa*

BESNER, David - In loving memory of my dear daddy who was taken away October 23, 1995.

*Silently the angels took Daddy
Into the mansion above.
There shall he rest from earth's toil
Safe in the arms of God's love.
Forever missed by Matthew.*

BESNER, David - In loving memory of a dear son-in-law and brother-in-law who left us October 23, 1995.

*In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear David,
That we do not think of you.
Lovingly remembered by Tom, Marilyn, Tommy and Kim.*

TOPILNYCKYJ - In loving memory of Nadya Rose, who left us October, 1993.

*We can't have the old days back
When we were all together,
But secret tears and loving thoughts
Will be with us forever.
We love you Nadie,
Mum and Family.*

Not All Top Performers Were in Atlanta

Some were performing worthwhile community service in towns right across Ontario

Do you know a young person, aged 6 to 18 years, who is involved in worthwhile community service or a special person who is contributing, while living with a physical or psychological limitation? Do you know a youth who has performed an act of heroism?

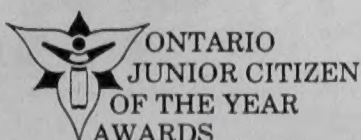

The Ontario Community Newspapers Association, with Bell Canada as the patron, is looking to recognize these "good kids"; the young people of our province who show a commitment to making life better for others.

To nominate an individual or a group of young people for the Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Award, please contact this community newspaper or the OCNA at 905-844-0184. Nominations for this year's awards will be accepted until October 31, 1996.

Every nominee will receive a certificate and up to 12 individuals and one group will be the recipients of a plaque presented by the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, an Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year lapel pin, $200 and a family portrait with the Lieutenant Governor.

NOMINATION FORMS - are available by contacting this community newspaper or OCNA at 905-844-0184
